THE JOURNAL OF AMERICAN FOLK-LORE (Quarterly: Editor, Alexander F. Chamberlain); issued by the American Folk-Lore Society, is designed for the collection and publication of the folk-lore and mythology of the American Continent. The subscription price is three dollars per annum.

The American Folk-Lore Society was organized January 4, 1888. The Society holds annual meetings, at which reports are received and papers read. The yearly membership fee is three dollars. Members are entitled to receive the Journal of American Folk-Lore. Subscribers to the Journal, or other persons interested in the objects of the Society, are eligible to membership, and are requested to address the Permanent Secretary to that end.

A limited number of copies of back volumes (vols. I-XIX, 1888-1906) are now available for sale, and may be obtained at the rate of $2.50 a volume by applying to the Acting Secretary, A. M. Tozzer, Cambridge, Mass. Covers suitable for binding may be had of the publishers at the rate of 30 cents a volume.
